War Cry

The All Round the World Salvation Army

AN OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE SALVATION ARMY, CANADA.

Vol. VI. No. 280. TORONTO, CANADA, MARCH 8TH, 1890. PRICE 5 CENTS.

The above picture with its bold and conspicuous words, "By their fruits ye shall know them," coupled with the central scene of all, which depicts so very plainly how our officers do their work, as well as all the other scenes in connection with the interior of both the Rescue and Drunken Women's Homes, really needs very little explanation, and is so plain, and the whole sketch speaks much louder than any human words can express, that one feels lost in trying to make it more plain. However, the central figure of all will really bear a few words of explanation in understanding, and an invitation to help along this blessed work among the outcasts and the fallen, among those whose lives are shattered and and whose hopes are battered through coming into contact with those who, shameless and godless, have led these dear sisters into such deep depths; into such a vortex of sin, woe, drink, and debauchery; and in writing about such evils, one must be plain and outspoken. That such evils exist, that such degraded beings live in a fact, and although we cannot alter this stern truth, thank God there is a remedy for it.

It has been said that there is no bodily disease, no matter how deadly, but can be cured by one or more of the many kinds of herbs which grow, and although sin has fastened such a grip on some of earth's fairest sisters, people who were made in the image of God; although their bodies have been, and are being emaciated, and tortured by their indulgence in open and secret sin, yet amid all this there is a remedy—the precious blood of Calvary's Lamb, and there is a way of escape—the way of the cross. And yet it seems almost folly to write thus, because everybody knows that Jesus has power to forgive and save. Most people who know anything of the Life of Christ, know full well that His mission was to save such sinners, for did He not pardon the woman taken in adultery? and did He not say to the mocking crowd of so-called good people who stood around, "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone?" It is well known, too, that Jesus mixed with publicans and sinners, for He came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. Yes, all these facts are known and need no comment, but it is also a fact, that Jesus expects Christians to be His representatives in this world of sin, anguish, and despair. And now comes the question, the burning question, "Do the majority of Christ's followers perform Christlike work?" We know that there are thousands of good people in our churches, crowds of those who distribute tracts, visit the sick, and do many other deeds of kindness. God will reward these according to the purity of their motives, but how very few there are who go down into the cess-pools of sin and grapple with the monster in his den. What a small number have courage enough to link arms with the poor fallen girl, or the tottering, debased drunkard on the street, and tell them of the great Deliverer they have in Jesus. True it is, that "by their fruits ye shall know them."

Only a few days ago one of our dear Rescue officers came across a heap of humanity in the shape of a drunken woman. She had fallen into a cellar; with great exertion the true "sister of mercy" helped her out, took her to our little Home, and to-day she is neat, clean, and happy, enjoying the comforts of a good situation. What is more, we believe she is doing her best to serve God, and do what is well pleasing in His sight.

We thank God for our devoted staff of women officers, who are ever ready to brave all kinds of danger in order to practically help their fallen sisters, and amid hours of anxiety, toil, and suspense, they are ever on the alert to help and rescue those who, but for such timely and practical aid, would doubtless have been lost and damned for ever. It is a very easy matter for easy-going Christians to rock themselves in their comfortable chairs and sing songs of rescue and invitation to sinners, but what about the fruits, what about the outcome of such a profession? Remember, comrades, who are guilty of such actions, you are your sisters' keepers, just as much as the officers who are continually engaged in the brunt of the battle, and demand upon it, if you do not rise to the help of your dear, deluded, perishing, dying sisters, God Almighty will hold you responsible for their souls, and their blood will be upon your shoulders. There is no excuse for you, for if you cannot give your life to this work, you can, no doubt, help it along very materially by giving of your substance. This will be acceptable to God.

Let every Christian, Army officer, and soldier ever remember that they are known not by the amount of talk they do, but by their fruits.

Welcome Meetings

OF

COMMISSIONER AND MRS. COOMBS

IN

Melbourne, Australia.

Officers, Soldiers, and Friends, of the Salvation Army in Australia, Affectionately Welcome Commissioner and Mrs. Coombs.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

The above were the words written on canvas stretching across the entire front of the wide gallery that strung up on one side of the platform of the Melbourne Town Hall, on Monday, Dec. 30th. During our eyes across the huge building, and looking round the gallery at the impelled crowd of intensely interested people, and then round the mass of blue and red S.A. caps and outfits on the platform and seats, at the Commissioner and Mrs. Coombs on the platform, and as scores of tenors, baritones, euphoniums, cornetdons, and the several drums and cymbals, united with the hundreds of voices, sounded out a succeeded by tremendous volleys from almost the entire congregation, we felt everything was in real S. A. style.

"THRAPPING HOPE OF WELCOME,"

Talk about enthusiasm extraordinary, the most prim seemed to lose all thought of their properness, and let go in the exponent expression of welcome and affection.

For a minute or so nothing could be heard but a grand roar of salvation artillery, but after that Major Hoskins led the only prayer to God, that His blessing might be upon the meeting throughout then.

Col. Pollard (who, I may say, has held the reins in splendid style during the interval of Commissioner Howard's leaving and Commissioner Coombs' coming) came forward, and started the meeting going with the old favorite,

"We're the Army."

It went very well, but somehow the folk didn't appear quite at home, so a wave offering was indulged in, a real proper one, too. The building, I am sure, had never been so decorated before. Of course the platform people waved and sang with energy, and round the entire building handkerchiefs waved, and some of your rheumatiey waves either, real lively, all arms and legs waving.

"Now, Mr. Colonel, "some of you may not have handkerchiefs, well and if that isn't enough for some of you blood-and-fire people, wave both," and they waved.

WAVE YOUR 'WAR CRY,'

Major Lindsay and Spratt followed with prayer; also the Commissioner, and then Major Barritt solved,

"O Calvary's stream,"

though it was difficult to restrain the mass of people from running away with it.

Major Graham read that very appropriate chapter, Joshua 1st, and judging by the enthusiasm his comments were received, with the should of them, was no fear in any heart about the change of Commissioners, but as God had been with the old one, He would be with the new.

"Now, forward soldiers," and "We're marching on to war," sung with the clapping accompaniment, and this nicely paved the way for Major Wright's characteristic address. The Major represented the Victoria Eastern Division, and was sure the Commissioner would not get anywhere else such a welcome as in Melbourne. (Brigadier Kilbey's face was here a study, and there was certain twinkle in his eye which said, "Wait until you see the reception in Sydney!") The Major, in a stirring and passionate address, expressed the pleasure it gave him to welcome Commissioner and Mrs. Coombs, to Australia.

Rev. Mr. Crisp, President of the Wesleyan Conference, spoke of his benevolence and personality, very warmly

"BECOMING THE COMMISSIONER

to our country, and we. He said it always did him good to come to the Salvation Army. He was a great admirer of the Salvation Army, and he firmly believed in our military regulation of changing officers, for it gave life to the meeting. He was sorry that his position he had borrowed from his brother divine, Mr. Coombs, was so far removed ready to the sun for fixed attention, for if which was that they lost light to other bodies." (Laughter.)

The Commissioner, in the course of his subsequent speech, said:

"Mr. Crisp says that the Methodists, like the sun, have lost the Salvation Army light, in the shape of fire. Well, if that power is regarded as a sufficient reason for the church, for we have paid liberal interest, and, no doubt, have paid back the capital as well." (Laughter.)

After a song and collection Brigadier Kilbey, from over the border, came forward, and in the name of the hundreds of officers and soldiers and friends in New South Wales, bade the Commissioner a real blood-and-fire welcome. The Commissioner and he were old friends, having met on the Old Country battlefield; but with his usual earnestness said (first) "If I had not known him and his dear wife before, I should accept their word from all quarters, and I would let it be a great benefit to assist them in winning souls for God."

The Commissioner sang and breathless silence:

"Oh, the peace the Savior gives,
Peace I never knew before,
All my way has brighter grown
Since I've found the Savior more."

It was powerful and took immensely. Mrs. Commissioner Coombs was greeted with rousing cheers all sides, as she joined the platform, and spoke a few words. She said:

"As you have been opening your hearts to receive us, and as you have given us such a hearty welcome, I feel also been opening ourselves you." In a very touching address Mrs. Coombs appealed to the sympathetic audience, and spoke herself upon at her sister. The attention was marked as she asked the question, "Will you SHAPE AS AN YOUR SISTER?"

Although the vast crowd did not rise en masse and shout, "Yes!" yet we felt that the spirit was there, and a number more, already, our Commissioner, who has a place in thousands of people's hearts, and in prayer, for a warm welcome, was over the way on. Mrs. Coombs is very warmly attached to the Rescue Work, and very knowledge related to the old branch of S. A. warfare.

The new Commissioner then came forward and was received with loud volleys and gun thunderings, and enthusiastic outpouring of welcome, said:

"Mr. Chairman, and dear friends, dear friends, I thank you very much for the magnificent welcome you have given us. I have never had a more welcome, or even the way on. Mrs. Coombs is very warmly attached to the Rescue Work

WAR NOTES!

Yes, there's a note of victory to give this week. Ever be our watchword, victory! but, either I last penned my notes, complained, blessed, blame hate you, lose defeated? If you don't watch and pray the devil will cry you up.

BE LOYAL!

The outlook for the grand old S. A. is better than ever it was. Men and devils have picked at it, its enemies have done their best to make it topple over, but their efforts have failed and the old structure stands sure because it's built on the Rock. Hallelujah!

BE LOYAL!

What a poor, mean lot we should be if it was all smooth sailing, and how nice it would suit some if we settled down into a fat-rest, don't-care society, a sort of sleepy, nominal concern. We should get lots of patting on the back, plenty of worldly praise; but we keep on the separate track, and are wise.

BE LOYAL!

Can it be true that Capt. Sceptopleasa, the man who is afraid of offending Broadmoother Settlebown, has actually ceased to sell WAR CRYS in his public meetings, or is he too cowardly to boldly hold up, throw a bundle of CRYS over his arm and push them into every house? Query.

BE LOYAL!

"Oh, Lord! help me to give You a good character, and help me to remember that at all times and under all circumstances, I have, as a very great extent, Thy character in my hands. So prayed an officer very recently, and I think there is a wonderful meaning in the burning words which conclude the short prayer. Lord, help us all to see it.

BE LOYAL!

Comrades, I have said it often before and I say it again, that "Loyal is as loyal like name." Many who have left our ranks, both officers and soldiers, seem to think so, for they still continue to hover and flutter around, and I am not surprised; in short, the only harm I can wish them is that they will soon get retrace their steps, again kneel the old ship, and never quit her till she reaches the shore. The time of this disaster is a conundrum.

BE LOYAL!

"Because God is at my right hand I shall not be moved." David had this place, and a great many others and multitudes, too, can claim this position; but how many there are through their own unfaithfulness and shallow lives, get round and the left hand side of God over their head, and if not very careful they will find themselves in the Judge's left, in the Great White Throne. Beware, my comrades!

BE LOYAL!

Thank God, that already, through the new Experience Scheme, we have succeeded in finding one person whose friends in Scotland have been made acquainted with the glad news of their child. Will you just join to the heading, "A New Scheme," in this issue, and if you know anything of the whereabouts of any of these missing ones let the Commissioner know immediately. It is a great work.

BE LOYAL!

Yes, we have a paper printed in the French language and published in Montreal for the special benefit of the French Canadians, but the circulation should be ten times greater than it is. Could not our officers who are stationed among the French Canadians take advantage of this paper and order a supply. It is a neatly got up paper, and contains valuable news as to the work in Lower Canada. Now, buy the En Avant.

BE LOYAL!

I see by the latest English "War Cry" that "Major Tyler (Capt. Tyler, McIlrigg) has been appointed A. D. C. to Major Hodder of the Birmingham Division. Let every Canadian officer and soldier see that God will give him great success in his new sphere of labors. I noticed, too, that he was chosen by Canada's representative at the bedside of dear Mrs. Booth, God bless him. Personally, I should like to shake his hand.

BE LOYAL!

And then Colonel and Mrs. Bailey were accorded a big welcome at Regent Hall, the occasion being that the Colonel became a soldier, sergeant, etc. You will see that there is an account of this meeting in this issue of the "War Cry." Where will we go to next, and what he is going to do, future WAR CRYS will, no doubt, divulge the source.

BE LOYAL!

Many of our readers, no doubt, know Capt. Willie Brokenshire, of Kingston; he has served several years in the Indian Dominion, and also worked at Headquarters for quite a time. He, with his wife (for he is now married) are so much in England, and from what I learn he will be one of the pioneers of the Army work in Japan. Canadians, pray for him.

BE LOYAL!

I began this story about a poor African gentleman, who has recently been passing through deep waters. His parents have discarded him altogether, and would, in saying, that as long as he was connected with the S. A. they never will recognize him as a son; yet, he says, "Though all the tears in his eyes, he held out in the blessed determination he had to go on, and of the great satisfaction he felt in the knowing that Jesus would stand to back on him. God bless Sam.

BE LOYAL!

A report from Brockville that a man without feet has recently got saved in that place, and the report goes on to say that he is a pedlar. Well, that does him! Our Saviour is no respecter of people, and it will be far better for this dear fellow to enter heaven without feet than to be cast into the place of torment with two sound feet. God bless you, brother.

BE LOYAL!

The C. H. B. boys are having good times on this Island, and are doing a good work, especially in seeing souls saved. A great deal of these notes in this CRY will give you an idea as to the success attending their meetings, and then their new song book takes the cake, and they keep singing for more. Trust every Comrade will remember Adjt. Leonard and the boys at the Throne of Grace.

BE LOYAL!

The series of opening meetings held in the new barracks at Dovercourt, Toronto, have been very successful. The Chief and Mrs. Coombs were present at the Saturday, Sunday, and Monday meetings. I believe Commissioner Coombs and Alderman Stewart, as well as Major Morgan, and all the rest of that happy company, enjoyed themselves at the Monday night jubilee, especially as it was a small friends' meeting the money to help defray expenses. Surely the Queen City is being besieged by Salvationists. God save the world.

WAR SCRIBE.

I WILL NOT

I WILL NOT be discouraged, for I am satisfied that He who has promised, is able to fulfil and give me grace to conquer. Through every difficulty and every strife. Hallelujah to the Lamb.

I WILL NOT fear the lot, no matter how great and mighty be may appear, for he who is for me is more than all who are against me. Therefore, I have no cause to tremble, but must steadily onward and upwards.

I WILL NOT doubt the Almighiness of Him Who dwelleth in the Light, and Who has wrought such glorious change in my heart. I would rather doubt my own being, than the power of God to save the world from its sorrows.

I WILL NOT sit idly by while one of thousands of poor perishing humanity drift by me into an eternity full of misery and darkness for the unsaved; but the service I owe my Lord, I shall be my choice, and God helping me, His will shall be first.

I WILL NOT content with my present experience, but I will "seek and find" more of the bread of heaven to enable me to perform the duties of my final grant, to cope with the surrounding development, and gain more strength to wield the sword of God's Spirit.

I WILL NOT be a stumbling block, but will seek to live in the fear of God, but my neighbor as myself. I fully realize, unless I do this, I cannot call myself child of God, but will be outside the pale of mercy.

I WILL NOT forget that "to visit the fatherless and widow" is called by God's Word, "pure religion and undefiled." Therefore, I will seek to put in as much visitation as I possibly can, to make my life, not to please my God, but help my neighbor.

I WILL NOT be a grumbler to annoy and bother my comrades, but hold of Christ they who live with me day by day, but I will give thanks in everything. In difficulties, in disappointments, in warfare, and in all. I will not be a grumbling devil to see which soon Mrs. Grumbler, my wife, will shun it and to secure her company.

I WILL NOT, cost what it may, no matter how hard the battle may grow, I will be an earnest, a true, and a consistent Christian, I will not be satisfied with throw of a few moons cooling character, which will give me a name to live, I will stick if I die. This is only renewing my consecration of years ago.

I WILL NOW make any compromise with the devil, but go to far and cut devil driving, and expose my sin, his wiles, and his power. I will be meek and mild of a Saviour who can save to the uttermost all those who believe in His name.

I WILL NOT try to be anything else than a Salvationist, saved from sin, not put anything else and be a Salvationist, believe I am a "person." No, no, no, I'll stick to the good old principle of being a Salvationist.

I WILL NOT sleep in, but when I ought to be at knee drill. But I will, by the grace of God, rise and pray, and be one amongst the number of early risers to wait upon the Lord to get my strength renewed, and do all I can to save the world.

I WILL NOT sit still in a meeting and not give my testimony, if I have the slightest chance. To sit still makes me feel as if I was the person that I am ashamed of my colors, and afraid to own of the precious Blood of Jesus that has cleansed me from all sin.

I WILL NOT be a coward, but a man, and take my stand and proclaim the riches of His mercy, which I had not, unless I came into the same path that Christ has led me into; but as for helping the devil

I WILL NOT.

Officers' Column!

BY COMMISSIONER.

Carelessness is of the devil.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

The devil has many a subtile way of hindering people, and this carelessness is one. Beware of it.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Never prize anything more than Christ; if you do you are doomed to certain failure and defeat.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Steady, now! Don't rush blindly at anything. You are on very important business, and while it demands zeal, it does not demand blindness or foolishness.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Always remember our work has to pass a very keen inspection, and unless it is the first-class quality it will be condemned. The inspector is one who notices very small flaws, and the least thing wrong will not escape him.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Never sleep spiritually one moment. The devil may so take hold of you that the moment's sleep may mean an eternity of endless doom, if not to you, to some poor passer by, on the way to God's great bar.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Don't get into a grudging sort of way in regard to your visiting. Do it because this is a reasonable pure religion and undefiled "not the Jatherless, not by men, but by God.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

If you have any regret on filling up your report from visiting you come under a visitation question, don't merely say, "I am sorry," but go and do better.

WHAT IS YOUR SOUL LIKE?

Keep your eye on Jesus and your soul full of heaven and I can say with assurance your soul will be ready for good in the station you are in.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Always remember your duty is to awaken the sinner to make him feel that the judgment day is close at hand.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Don't try to please them particularly; always try to drive in the knife of God's Word and let the sinner feel such a cutting as to make them miserable.

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Is your heart big enough to take in the whole world? Many people are so lost in their own poor little troubles as to forget there are many thousands more in the world, and have more than they can bear and with. They have a kind of "only remember me" sort of religion, like the Jews, in the time when could only take in his own friends, and said,

"Lord, bless me and my wife,
Our dad and his wife;
Us four and no more—Amen."

SELL THE WAR CRY!

Oh, for a universal heart that can pray for all mankind.

How are you shaping for the Eternal Morning?

Tit Triumphs

Training Kept Sharp.

"The war rolls on! The spirit of the age very mildly and many consider have sold down in what they call fighting to suit the best." We are pledged in the war.

"A recent convert was asked, 'How is your religion on an average?' 'Why, sir, I never did care very much about it before I got saved if I met with an accident and I broke anything I would take a way from my instinct, I would say about it. The other day I was in crockery, and I had to go and put my religion on it; it was nothing but paint to me to replace it."

A gentleman was asked, "Why do you buy the WAR CRY?" The answer was, "Well, really, the officer who brings it seems such a long way to my house, I feel is so good, that I could not have the heart to refuse him lest it should disappoint him." Does your goodness and piety recommend you to the dying world of your neighbors, reader? Before you will have power or influence in recommending the your life must commend itself to the world.

Cadet Fitzpatrick is very sick with the hospital. Will every comrade please pray for her.

It's Getting Better.

A Sunday has been put in at the Depot lately. God's spirit was with us morn till night and many got mightily blessed. We wound up with three in the fountain, or salvation, and the Holy fire mark round the interior after it was over.

The specious auditorium was nicely filled and there was perfect silence when Bro. Carter rose and says: "Dear Jesus I rise to my feet to make this declaration. Three years ago I gave my heart to God, and I have since till last night, walked with all my heart, and was a soldier in this corps and used to play in the band, but I got dissatisfied and thought I could serve God out of the Army. I went out into the world, and as far as it could go me I had its pleasures and profits, but I was a miserable man, and I determined to hold out no longer. I intend to go back to my old place and be a soldier again. I have not lost my hold on God altogether, I love Jesus, but I want to say that I feel humble enough to go to the penitent form, and that is where I am now going to get right."

God put His seal on David and filled his soul with peace and joy, while many soldiers have covered up their independent and strange emotion, savoring very much of the joy of heaven. How could we expect anything less than a blood-and-fire march after the likes of that?

On Thursday last we had another torrent at the Temple, and among the twelve who stood to the front in this interesting ceremony was David. We have not seen a more happy fellow that night than he had been for months previous. God bless him.

No less than six of the Headquarter Staff have given their names in to be secure at the Temple and very honorably received their credentials, and have enrolled in order to be true soldiers to others. Ensigns M. S. Neal and Mr. Cavin, Grenfell and Mr. Stark, and Lieut. Elliott and McMillan are their names. Let make them each a mighty power in the Temple corps.

The soul boom in the T. B. Division registers up to the 16th 223. Towards that number the corps have subscribed as follows:—Temple 20, Lippincott 8, Parliament St. 8, Sherbourne St. 8, Sussex St. 8, Yorkville 18, Brantford 17, Riverside 8, West Toronto Junction 12, Dundas 8, Arthur St. 8, Centre St. 6, Eglinton 8 and the cadets in the Lippincott and Yorkville Homes have got 12 saved while visiting the jail by the 6 of them.

"Gird on the armor and rush to the fight with more desperate zeal if we are to win the victory for our God. Who will be the chosen, on soul-winner?

Dovercourt is opened. The new and little barracks is a credit to the Army and the S. A. The north-west Toronto and Dundas St. Corps are doing well and God put His seal upon it by a three souls.

There is going to be a big work in Dovercourt I believe, and before all the opening services are over the soul boom will be larger higher. Look out for the full report.

J. B. MAGORRIS, Major.

Signs and Wonders

AT WOODSTOCK.

The D. O., Adjt. Plant, and a Host of Officers to the Front.

Big Crowds—A Fine Band—In Prison—Eight Souls—The Devil in a Fix.

BY TOM PLANT.

The recent week-end spent at Woodstock was simply glorious; heaven on earth from first to last. There was a talk that the Army was going down in this town, but.

Don't You Believe It.

I can assure you it's going up, and we mean in truth, "See our numbers how they swell."

Saturday night, the band was to the front in full fondant, and a fine band it is too; full uniform, smiling faces, and the fire burning brightly inside. The principal street of the town was alive with strains of Salvation music and singing. It did my soul good to see such a crowd of people listening to it. I think any of them were sorry for coming for it was a great meeting. I thought salvation was good before, but I was compelled to shout.

It's Getting Better.

As one after another testified I lifted up my heart in thankfulness and praise to God for the wonderful trophies of grace that had been won.

We rejoiced over one sinner returning to the fold.

Sunday morning found a goodly number at 7 o'clock knee-drill partaking of the showers of blessings that God showered down.

Every Sunday morning a service is held in the prison led by Salvationists, and I was very glad of the opportunity of accompanying my comrades and speaking a word for Jesus

Within the Prison Walls.

It was a touching sight to see people of almost every age in that prison, some of them for crimes committed. The Lord was with us in power and helped each soldier to say something which I believe sank into the hearts of many of that 40 and congregation, and will be the means of their salvation.

Staff-Capt. Sharpe was in good trim for the holiness meeting and did not mince matters in laying down the plan of holiness. Our dear comrade Adjt. Evans, and also Capts. Feard and Thompson, together with a good number of others, testified to being in possession of a clean heart.

There is one thing I specially noticed was that the Band corps and the band of the old building that was burnt. There were seven souls at the opening meetings. Commissioner Ouchterloney is the daughter of a banker. It is about seven years since the corps opened fire there, and there are now 63 corps and 283 officers.

Major Whatmore has opened another corps in the great western city of Chicago. Surely this American Major has lots of Salvation dash and go, and we heartily congratulate him. God save Chicago!

A cat and tin-pot combination is reported to have taken rather a prominent part in the disturbance of a meeting at Middleton, Tenn. The noise was so terrible that an old lady captured pussy and held her tight, continuing to do so to the end of the meeting. What will the devil go into next?

The Genova Cri de Guerra says:—"Major Percy Clibborn recently said to the Neuchatel soldiers, 'The first time I put on my uniform I felt as if I was the last of a soldier of the Salvation Army, but since I have worn it, I have better understood the rules and regulations of the Army, and now it is a part of my existence. The Salvation Army has become my skin! I am a Redskin!'"

Major Evans, of New York, has secured another hall in Brooklyn, seating some 400 people. It is fully seated, and the Major hopes soon to have another corps in that flourishing in the City of Churches. He also reports the capture of a hall at Passaic, N.J., and intends to open fire immediately.

Seven hundred Sold officers farewelled in Great Britain on Sunday, February 23rd. The International Candidates' Department will receive from Commissioner Howard eighty cadets for commissioning—forty second-footy weeaning, in one and forty Colonel Lawley is appointed to take charge of the Candidates' Department, and of the Candidates of the United Kingdom. He will also take charge of the people who ought to offer but have not done so. For this purpose, he is to spend most days and Sundays in the Stations, being planned throughout the kingdom. Mrs. Lawley will co-operate, and intends holding meetings and interviewing Candidates. The Colonel will not leave the spiritual work in which he has been so successful, but will link it to his new department as a sort of dynamo flywheel. We confidently expect a crowd of Candidates, Lieut.-Colonel Lawley, Three chiefs for Col. and Mrs. Lawley and the Candidates.

Major Tyler has landed at the Cape. He had a rough passage, and through an awkward fall was quite lame on his arrival. He is, however, coming round, and in company with a Dutchman, is attacking the Dutch people at the Cape.

As we go to press our report from Clacton is to the effect that this past week has been very similar to the one that preceded it.

Yesterday, Commissioner Coombs took Mrs. and Mrs. Booth is as the present time consequently much reduced in the Boccacio Hall card to hand shows that four souls were saved on Tuesday night.

Cadet Meston who has been fighting in the Corps for some time past, has just farewelled.

I left Woodstock at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, and shall look forward to the time when I shall be privileged to again visit this Blood-and-fire Corps.

SALVATION ARMY NEWS FROM THE NATIONS

During two or three of the meetings at Huntington, Ind., rocks were thrown on the roof of the barracks (tin). The city authorities heard of it, and immediately advertised in the local papers, offering $5 reward for the conviction of the offenders, which reward he declares he will pay out of his own pocket. God bless him! Other city marshals take notice.

Commissioner Hanna Ouchterloney, the leader of our forces in Sweden and Norway, has recently commenced to visit the ranks at Sundesvall erected in place of the old building that was burnt. There were seven souls at the opening meetings. Commissioner Ouchterloney is the daughter of a banker. It is about seven years since the corps opened fire there, and there are now 63 corps and 283 officers.

Major Whatmore has opened another corps in the great western city of Chicago. Surely this American Major has lots of Salvation dash and go, and we heartily congratulate him. God save Chicago!

SOUL Boom! Boom!

BY WEE BOOMER.

Be wise concerning your

SOULS.

By Making Sure of Your Loyalty to God through the Merits of the blood of Jesus, and prayerfully meditate upon the following

SIMPLE PROPORTION SUM.

Y. M. : Y. W. :: Y. S. : Y. E.

Read Y for your, H for heart, W for work, S for success in soul-saving, E for real, and you will find that, as your heart is to your work of soul-saving, so will be your success to your real for the same; therefore, by all means, let us have our hearts in the healthiest spiritual condition with God, counting nothing too dear as a sacrifice on our part for the prize of a soul. Let us bear in mind that God said by the shed blood, and what we, as children of the living God, are bound to do to show the receipt to a dying world. There is the written receipt which is the Word itself—bless the Lord for that—but there is also another form of receipt which is so very convincing, and it is that one which is "read and known of all men" in a life of fearless faith proved by works in the thing that is going to back home the Word of God expressed, and it believes its as a branches of the Vine to suck in all the life giving sap from the root which shall keep our testimony fresh, and we may be able to hold on most successfully to God in prayer and sanctified determination to be overcomers of every apparent impediment that may seem to block the way.

What a very stimulating thought it is to "Stand up for your Jesus" in the world and the devil, knowing as we do that we are on the winning side and are going to conquer if we keep on the line of duty, as the locomotive is sure of its right destination if it keeps on the right track.

Oh, we don't forget to give God all the glory for the total number of souls Wee Boomer has been able to report from the start of the boom, but although we are beautifully satisfied with our Master in every respect, we are not satisfied with the present result of our labors and feel quite sure that the arm of God has not become shortened, nor is His ear less attentive unto the soul boom. We do believe though that He is able to use us in a far greater measure than at the present, and that this should be so is very evident if we are to arrive at the mark we are aiming at.

Many the Lord Himself intervene and help us to put our swords into the enemy right up to the hilt, slaying none of his "at cattle," but slaughtering them and left until the glorious end is accomplished.

What a mistake it is to conclude that because an officer has made the penitent form for the first three-quarters of an hour of the morning, that nothing has been doing. Many the best thing is, more especially for every so-called corps, to hold on for the full time, and let sinner feel the building, and then be sure to follow up next day the impression made on the previous night, by visiting the deeply convicted ones, and pleading with them yet again. Persistency will do it; the love of God will tell; the power of the Holy Ghost must win. Discouragements will be many, apparent defeats not a few, but the cause of God truth and right is more than Everest or Mount Blanc, that the Holy Ghost is more than a match for the devil.

The Farewell

At the Ambitious City

D. O. SWEETMAN AND WIFE.

They Begin Their Ministry of Warfare.

Farewell Supper Staff-Capt. Read to the Front.

Amid the farewell sentiments of D. O. Sweetman and wife have come Staff-Capt. Read arrived for Sunday's meetings, and God helped him to impart unto us some rich spiritual blessings. The "War Cry" man is a welcome visitor to our Ambitious City.

Major Sweetman and wife took the reins on Monday, and we went to have three days' council of war. Our faith ran high, and God did not disappoint us, as we need to be there. The D. O. was indeed very much at home, and had his sight on the 'Ville and from him flowed words of wisdom spoken by God. I think, never did we realize our position as at that time; yet there seemed to be something strange about it, as we felt that God had put us in this place, and we knew that the Lord would have the pleasure of being in with our beloved D. O. and wife, yea, we know God doth all things well. Ever green in our memory will be the exhortation given us to stand steadfast, and every heart responded, "I will." We know we miss our D. O. and wife, the families will miss Mrs. Sweetman, her sympathy and words of cheer have been, and will be, cherished by us all.

An invitation was given us all to attend the farewell supper given D.O. and Mrs. Sweetman, about twelve hundred sat down to it, soldiers, officers, and some of Hamilton's leading men and women—these are my friends.

After the three were are friends appointed at the platform: two government officials, Mr. Alderman John Lees and Mr. J. Mathews, Mr. Green, and Mr. Appleyard, two leading merchants, the latter taking the chair.

The farewell tea and meeting was a success. Some twenty-five speeches were given and a few farewell words from the D. O. and wife and we close, thanking God we have been blessed in this place. Many were the hands stretched out to grasp and shake the hands of our leaders, we thank God for allowing us the privilege of following such blessed comrades as D. O. and wife. God bless them much. And now we wait their successors, and with ready hearts we stand to greet them, knowing that we have been made ready warriors by our past experience, and we are looking for greater victories in the near future.

Promoted from Uxbridge.

Six years ago the Army opened fire in Uxbridge. Many souls got saved, who, before the Army came to town, were living lives of sin and misery, among them was our dear comrade, Brother John Johnson.

His was a real conversion which no one second to know it, the change in his life was visible to all.

He fought as a soldier for over four years, and never missed a march or meeting when possible for him to get out, and was always the first to testify. He felt the Lord had done so much for him, that his heart was full of love to God. His comrades were often cheered by his kind words.

After three weeks' sickness, the Lord called him to Himself. His last testimony in the barracks was, "When God called him he was ready to go."

Several of our comrades visited him just before he died, and asked him if all was well, he said, "Yes, all is well."

They sang and prayed with him, and bade him good-by till they should meet him on the morning of the glorious resurrection.

He passed peacefully away on February 15th. We gave him a real Salvation Army funeral. The day was cold, but did not hinder a large number of soldiers and friends from turning out to pay their last respects to their dear brother. While the band played, many were moved to tears. He was loved and respected by all who knew him.

While holding the service at the grave, one dear sister made up her mind to serve God, and came out at the night meeting and got saved.

We miss our brother at the head of the march, as he was our color bearer, but while another takes up the sword to take Brother Johnson takes up the victor's palm in glory.

The memorial service led by Major Spooner on the following Sunday night was very impressive.

We are all determined to be true, and meet our comrade in heaven.

ORIGINAL SALVATION SONGS.

1 HE CAN SAVE.

BY COMMISSIONER.

TUNE—There is a better world, they say.

Come, sinner, to the Lamb of God,
He can save, He can save;
Your burden will be gone at last,
He can save, He can save!
Oh, come and trust Him now this hour,
He'll liberate you every bit by power,
And rain upon you Mercy's shower,
He can save, He can save.

There's room for you, there's room for all,
He can save, He can save;
The "Victory over" Christ does call,
He can save, He can save;
Though earthly treasures are but few,
A priceless gift is offered you,
His promise to each soul is true,
He can save, He can save.

Backslider, Jesus pleading stands,
He can save, He can save;
And Jesus your return is needing hands,
He can save, He can save;
Though far away your heart has gone,
He'll transplant on that prodigal son,
If a living spirit still says "Come,"
He can save, He can save.

2 BY THE BLOOD.

BY STAFF-CAPT. LEIGHTON.

TUNE—Tell it to Jesus.

By the blood, He shed on Calvary's mountain,
Jesus can save you, Jesus can save you,
And if you will plunge into the fountain,
He'll wash you white as snow.

CHORUS.

Jesus can save you, Jesus can save you,
And wash you white as snow,
Though your sins are hardened, your sins shall be pardoned
Jesus will save you now.

From your life of sinfulness and sorrow,
Jesus will save you, Jesus will save you,
You may never live until to-morrow,
Then come to Jesus now.

Though you are in sin the Lord is near you,
Jesus will save you, Jesus will save you,
Tell your story and the Lord will hear you,
Oh come to Him just now.

3 INVITATION.

BY MAJOR SAUCH.

TUNE—Stella.

Come, weary sinner to the Cross,
No longer from your Saviour stray;
The world can give you no true gain,
For which you'll dearly have to pay;
But Christ your soul can satisfy,
With grace to live and grace to die.

Your time is short, oh, don't delay;
You're drifting down the stream of time;
Eternity or endless woe
Must shortly be forever thine.
What does it profit you to gain
Earth's pleasures, if you lose your souls?
Turn from your sins and happy be.

When sore of you Mercy's knocking,
To seek the Lord, O don't be late;
Christ's loving calls will thus be lost,
Your soul may soon be forever fate.
But now He calls, to you, to you,
Come where and to Jesus come.

4 A MESSAGE FOR ALL.

BY LUTHER.

TUNE—When Johnny comes marching home.

Dear sinner, hear the call to-day,
"Come home, come home,"
Your Saviour and your consolence say
"Come home, come home."
Why longer in your sins remain,
Which only bring you grief and pain?
The Blood will cleanse just now from every stain.

Poor drunkard, you may from your cups
Be free, be free;
Mr fallen sister, there is hope
For thee, for thee.
Come now ye worldlings, everyone,
Who afar off doubtful pleasures run,
You may all be free through God's beloved Son.

Oh, comrades, when the Captain speaks
Obey, obey,
Though far from friends His service lead
Away, away,
Gentle yet His will ever stand,
And gently lead you by the hand,
Till safely you shall reach fair Canaan's land.

With joy we tread the narrow way,
Amen, amen,
Let every happy soldier say
Amen, amen.
We'll trust, grasp the sword and shield,
We'll live and die on the battlefield,
And still heaven's gained we'll never, never yield!

5 COME TO THE CROSS.

LIEUT. BLOSE, FRENCH CORPS, MONTREAL.

TUNE—Take all my sight away.

When in the cross of Christ I came,
Guilty, deserving naught but hell;
I cried, "Lord save me from my sin,
And He did take me in.

CHORUS.

Oh, He did take me in!
Oh, He did take me in!
When at His blessed feet I fall,
Praise God He took me in.

Now Christ has cleansed my heart from sin,
He helps me live from day to day,
To point poor sinners to the blood
That washes sine away.

'Tis Jesus that can save from sin,
'Tis Jesus that can satisfy;
Come to the Cross, do not delay,
He'll take your sins away.

6 CLEANSE FROM SIN.

C. R. O., HAMILTON II.

TUNE—"Rose Ev."

Lord, I'm coming, weak and clothed,
Bewildered, bruised, and by the cross;
Nothing leaving, all I'm bringing,
Purge me now from all of dross.

CHORUS.

Cleanse from sin,
Cleanse from sin,
I seek, Saviour, now my heart,
Cleanse from sin.

Consecrate me to Thy service
Help me, I am a bit surprised Divine;
Take me, use me for Thy glory,
Make and keep me wholly Thine.

Are You Guilty? We think there is no work so much blessed of God as WAR CRY selling, and we find the reports from the various corps are convinced that a loyal, devoted Army officer will bring every effort to bear on this special line of business, the Army and its work. People are anxious as a rule to know what the Army is and what it is doing, what accounts for failure in meeting with throughout the Dominion, and in various parts of the world. Now the Cry is the medium, the remedy for the satisfaction of their anxiety, and it is the solemn, beneath duty of every P.S. and soldier to do their best in getting the WAR CRY—the Salvation Army—in print—into every Canadian home. It is a part of every officer's work to sell WAR CRYS, and thank heaven it is a work which brings blessing and reward to all those who engage in it. We are waiting for a mighty advance in the sale of the WAR CRY.

By Their Fruits. We have in our front page sketch and article, tried to draw the attention of our friends throughout the Dominion, to the fact that the Rescue Work is worth the prominent place, and financial support. Never was there more need for such a noble work as there is to-day, and while at present the operations are confined to the Queen City, the city of churches, the so called moral, religious city, there are scores of fallen, hopeless harlots and drunkards can be seen night after night—there are other cities in the Dominion, urgently crying out "Come over and help us;" but for want of funds we cannot do this, and we therefore throw the responsibility of all the misery over on to the shoulders of those who are rich and well off in this world's goods, to come forward to the rescue, and practically help Mrs. Adams and her brave staff in this matter. Many things have been said about it, many of matter have been written as to the great need, and now will our friends kindly act, and send a donation to Headquarters.

His Appointments. A reference to the back pages of this issue will give our readers the places to be visited by the Commissioner on his tour East. We have heard tidings of great things in the past from these parts, and we feel sure that the enthusiasm, love life, and go of the saved New foundlanders, but whatever the past may have been, we venture to predict such meetings as will eclipse former gatherings. The staff which accompanies our leader is a lively one, with instrumental and vocal music, all of which will serve to cause greater attraction and stir; in short, we make bold to saying that Glory Town's Domain will be thoroughly deluged by a great avalanche of Salvation, joy and praise, which we are confident will be mingled with the cries of many for mercy and deliverance from sin. God grant it. Comrades, continue to pray that it may be so.

Commissioner.

IN THE THICK OF THE FIGHT

WAR CRY

SATURDAY, MARCH 8TH, 1890.

Staff-Capt. McHardy Visits Mrs. Booth. Doubtless it will greatly interest our readers to know that Captain McHardy, our Bob, was chosen to represent Canada, at the funeral of Mrs. Booth, which representatives from all over the world took part. We have given a full account of the funeral in another page. Captains and Mrs. W. Brekenshire, Canadians, were also among the number who were thus honored to spend an hour at the bedside of the world-wide-Salvation Army's Mother. It must have been a touching sight to see the officer, soldier, and friend continue to besiege the Throne in behalf of dear Mrs. Booth, who lies so near the river.

Brekenshire crossing upon the the 18th: Steadily we are moving onward, the strongholds of the Queen City, and the opening meetings at Fort St. have been held. Great success attended each meeting, and we are confident with Major Sauch at a nightly soul-winning work, will be accomplished in this northern limits of the city. No doubt the Major has his eye on Christ's positions in Toronto been held by the devil, and great things are in store for the 1st. Division. March 09, 7 heaven!

Trade. Staff-Capt. Sweeting has been appointed Trade Secretary, and has got into the working harness that a nightly soul-saving work will be accomplished in this northern Connection with our trade, is to flood the Dominion of God and the salvation of souls, should urge every officer, soldier, and friend to do all they can to have the pure public taste for various literature and other things sold by Headquarters.

ABOUT MRS. BOOTH.

Representatives of Many Nations Assemble by the River.

AFFECTING SCENES.

BY THE FOREIGN SECRETARY.

(From the English Cry.)

"I always looked upon the work of Jesus Christ as being world-wide, on the Years ago the Lord gave me a promise: 'I will make thee a mother of nations.' I could not understand it then. I did not believe it. I put it away. I shelved it, as it were, and left it there, till I began to realize its fulfillment."

So spoke Mrs. Booth to twenty-four representatives of the Army in foreign lands, as they knelt round her bedside on the afternoon of the 30th of January. They will never forget this, and many such utterances. They is prophetic significance in every word. Seldom, if ever, has one life sown such a wide, and a brief space of time such a harvest of eternal blessings.

It was a happy thought of the Chief-of-Staff's to seize the opportunity of the comparative calm in Mrs. Booth's physical struggles, of gathering together some of the fruits of the Salvation Army Revival (which, by a Divine coincidence, we believe, happen to be unusually large) as a tribute to God, to cheer her, strengthen the sympathy of their comrades in her affliction, and the messages of love and loyalty which they had to convey, to deliver.

The day was favorable. The night was dreary, and the morning threatening; but the faith of the deputation was encouraged that all might be well. The clouds passed away, and by the time Clacton was reached, a mild breeze had sprung up, the ugly "man's hands" on the horizon. On reaching Ocean Villa, Mrs. Booth was assured us that although her mother had had a somewhat painful night and morning, the door was open. The deputation was unmarked of the surroundings of the house in which our honored comrade lies dying, impressed us. What a contrast to the wee life she has led! Beneath the little cottage is the restless sea—strangely like the suffering that has passed through this life. Now calmly and imperceptibly creeping along with a quiet murmur; and then breaking out in paroxysms of pain and rage on the bosom of these waves of pain have been borne messages upon the triumph of faith which are vibrating with emotion and love in the hearts of tens of thousands as we write. "All things work together for good to them that love God"; or, as Mrs. Booth herself expressed to the deputation, "They tell me that this illness has been used of God to draw a great many hearts nearer to Himself, and to make them more determined than ever to fight for the salvation of the world." This had specially so in the case of our comrades abroad, and with feelings of sorrow, they spoke to God. We were greatly led by Commissioner Rabenaan (as the writer prefers to style her) opinion to the sick chamber.

It was a mournful procession, notwithstanding our feelings were mixed. We were twenty-two in all.

France—Major and Mrs. Fry.
Switzerland—Major Mrs. Buller.
Germany—Cadet Junker.
Denmark—Major Mrs. Wilson, Adjt. and Mrs. Fahlquon, Adjt. Borg and Capt. Olsen.
Sweden—Capt. Rosen.

Canada—Staff-Capt. McHardy.

South Africa—Capt. and Mrs. Taylor.
India and Ceylon—Capt. Kantabella and the wife of Major Tucker.
Australia—Ensign Cartner.
Other Nations—Col. Nicol, Staff-Capts. Witts and Jackson, and Capt. and Mrs. Brokenshire.

The room in which Mrs. Booth lies is small, and furnished after a Salvation Army's pattern. Above the little iron bedstead are the Army colors. On the right, hung in the form of a cross, a green, red, yellow, and blue, Salvation Army shawl, and on the left is a large clothes-horse, with a white cloth thrown upon it, so as to form another screen. On the wall, facing the sufferer, is a square text, evidently the work of some rescued girl: "The Lord fulfil all thy petitions." By the bedside is a gipsy table; some loving hands had arranged upon it a little bunch of flowers upon it; a table near the window, three chairs, a text: "I have called you by your name, thou art Mine," being over the mantel, a bed in corner and a piece of carpet, completed the furniture of the room into which the deputation was one by one, by Commissioner Rabenaan.

Owing to the smallness of the room, we knelt around the bed. Many of the deputation had never seen Mrs. Booth before. The Commissioner knelt close to her, and trollable, as they looked upon her, through whose instrumentality a people had been raised up and had spread the Salvation over part of the world to proclaim the salvation of Jesus Christ. The writer started,

"With salvation, to every nation."

It took a new meaning as we sang it in the presence of her whose voice and whose offspring had lent such service to its accomplishment.

Mrs. Major Buller and Capt. Kantabella invoked God's help and grace upon us, and the Foreign Secretary introduced the deputation.

"We are your children," he remarked, "You are our Army Mother. It is with deep thankfulness to the Lord that you have been spared so long, and we have been spared to see each other once more, and, some of us for the first time, face to face in the flesh. We have wrestled, at a distance, your battlings with the painful affliction, and your triumph over the enemy. We wish we could alleviate your pain. We cannot. We do not bring any balm or salve for the wound; but we bring hearts of sympathy, and we represent many nations and we believe that this day the Lord will help you to say something to us that will be sweet to the souls of thousands to whom we shall repeat it."

The deputation was then introduced.

It soon became evident that as Mrs. Booth it was a God-given opportunity of moulding, by her counsel, the hearts and lives of those who are to be the leaders of the Army in distant lands. The righteousness of our principles, the danger which would beset the pioneers, the difficulties which lay before every individual soldier, and the necessity for using them to the utmost, were all dealt with, and she gave proof of her suffering, and the help the knowledge of our sympathy had been to her, it seemed too much for us, and none could refrain from weeping.

She had a word of cheer and encouragement for each one.

Self-Forgetfulness.

One little incident seemed to show more clearly than anything else could have done, Mrs. Booth's spirit of self-forgetfulness, and her interest, even now, in the details of the war. When Mrs. Wilson, of Denmark, was introduced to her, she said, "Mrs. Wilson! This is the one who has just lost her baby boy," and words of comfort and sympathy with her in her trial were spoken. The words of sympathy were too much for Mrs. Wilson, and burstings into tears, she said, "Oh, Mrs. Booth, how can you think of my little trial when you are suffering so yourself?"

Remembrance of Old Comrades.

The testimony of the Buddhist priest seemed to give Mrs. Booth special satisfaction; and, as Capt. Kantabella spoke to her, she remembered one Singhalese comrade she had known, and charged him to give her love to Major Jaya Kodi when he returned.

After a momentary pause, Mrs. Wilson, who was returning to the land of her adoption the same night, was introduced, and, as stated above, a most touching incident took place.

Colonel Nicol—"This is Mrs. Major Wilson. You will have known her as Capt. Lockwood. She has just lost a little one."

Mrs. Booth then remarked that she remembered her and the loss of her child, and added, "I sympathise with you very much."

Mrs. Wilson—"Oh, don't mention it. I feel so much for you, and far more for your sufferings, that I feel I can forget my own."

Mrs. Booth—"Mine will soon be over, and your little one is safe in heaven; I used to always feel like David when mine were sick, that I must fast and pray and do all that I could while they were living, but if the Lord took them, I don't think I should shed many tears. I don't know, the weakness of human nature, perhaps, I would have got the better of me, but I used to feel such a sense of the danger of making life's journey, and what I thought I should feel happy in acknowledging them in heaven."

The other officers representing Denmark stood up, and referring to the purpose of Capt. Olsen's visit, Major Sauch, who is trained for Rescue Work in Copenhagen), Mrs. Booth remarked, "That is a glorious work, and wonderful work. The Lord bless you, and help you to learn."

Major and Mrs. Buller, fresh from Switzerland and the Continent, spoke of and referred to the many manifestations of sympathy officers had shown in council meetings, and said, "I cannot say how love to them," was the general acknowledgment.

Capt. and Mrs. Brokenshire, Canada, said, "We have volunteered to go out to assist in the opening up of Japan, were introduced. The Captain has B. A. and M. A. to his name. "That will give you prestige, and secure you a hearing," Mrs. Booth observed Mrs. Booth, "which you must use for God."

"God has called us for this work," replied the Captain. "We have been part of the world to proclaim the salvation of Jesus Christ. The writer started,

"With salvation, to every nation."

It took a new meaning as we sang it in the presence of her whose voice and whose offspring had lent such service to its accomplishment.

Mrs. Major Buller and Capt. Kantabella invoked God's help and grace upon us, and the Foreign Secretary introduced the deputation.

"We are your children," he remarked, "You are our Army Mother. It is with deep thankfulness to the Lord that you have been spared so long, and we have been spared to see each other once more, and, some of us for the first time, face to face in the flesh. We have wrestled, at a distance, your battlings with the painful affliction, and your triumph over the enemy. We wish we could alleviate your pain. We cannot. We do not bring any balm or salve for the wound; but we bring hearts of sympathy, and we represent many nations and we believe that this day the Lord will help you to say something to us that will be sweet to the souls of thousands to whom we shall repeat it."

The deputation was then introduced.

It soon became evident that as Mrs. Booth it was a God-given opportunity of moulding, by her counsel, the hearts and lives of those who are to be the leaders of the Army in distant lands. The righteousness of our principles, the danger which would beset the pioneers, the difficulties which lay before every individual soldier, and the necessity for using them to the utmost, were all dealt with, and she gave proof of her suffering, and the help the knowledge of our sympathy had been to her, it seemed too much for us, and none could refrain from weeping.

She had a word of cheer and encouragement for each one.

Self-Forgetfulness.

One little incident seemed to show more clearly than anything else could have done, Mrs. Booth's spirit of self-forgetfulness, and her interest, even now, in the details of the war. When Mrs. Wilson, of Denmark, was introduced to her, she said, "Mrs. Wilson! This is the one who has just lost her baby boy," and words of comfort and sympathy with her in her trial were spoken. The words of sympathy were too much for Mrs. Wilson, and burstings into tears, she said, "Oh, Mrs. Booth, how can you think of my little trial when you are suffering so yourself?"

Remembrance of Old Comrades.

The testimony of the Buddhist priest seemed to give Mrs. Booth special satisfaction; and, as Capt. Kantabella spoke to her, she remembered one Singhalese comrade she had known, and charged him to give her love to Major Jaya Kodi when he returned.

After a momentary pause, Mrs. Wilson, who was returning to the same night, was introduced, and, as stated above, a most touching incident took place.

Colonel Nicol—"This is Mrs. Major Wilson. You will have known her as Capt. Lockwood. She has just lost a little one."

Mrs. Booth then remarked that she remembered her and the loss of her child, and added, "I sympathise with you very much."

Mrs. Wilson—"Oh, don't mention it. I feel so much for you, and far more for your sufferings, that I feel I can forget my own."

Mrs. Booth—"Mine will soon be over, and your little one is safe in heaven; I used to always feel like David when mine were sick, that I must fast and pray and do all that I could while they were living, but if the Lord took them, I don't think I should shed many tears. "God has called us for this work," replied the Captain. "We have been part of the world to proclaim the my heart. I believe we have a great future before us there."

The natives of Africa had a warm spokesman in our converted publican, Captain Taylor, who, with his wife, are distributing themselves in the East End of London to go into harness for the conversion of the Zoulus, Kaffirs, Bechuanas, and other races they may be delegated to help. Mrs. Booth took in at a glance the prospect in that part of the world. "Give my love to the Zulus," she smilingly said to the Captain; tell them that from the first Zulu war I have loved them." Mrs. Taylor felt deeply for Mrs. Booth, as she knew what suffering meant.

INDIA'S 250,000,000

—their needs, their condition, their salvation—were well portrayed in the well-built priest and Capt. Kantabella. Our priest-brother, in brief, explained his deliverance from Buddhism through his comrade. The Captain thanked Mrs. Booth for sending her daughter to their country, and in true oriental style, spoke of the love the saved and unsaved felt toward her. "And you will all love her when you know more about her. I shall be near India when I get to heaven, and will often look down from the battlements upon you."

The Lost in Australia were brought before Mrs. Booth by Adjt. Carmer, one of the most Rescuing House lassas, and recently of slum-saving fame. Mrs. Booth was much encouraged to hear from through the reading of the War Cry report of the last deputation of officers to Australia, a poor, lost soul in the Whitechapel had his heart turned toward God.

GERMANY.

Cadet Junker, in his broken English, said: "I only can say I am willing to do or suffer or forsake for Jesus' sake. I feel very weak for myself, but I trust Him and I am willing to do His will."

Mrs. Booth—"If He had only a plenty of such people, He does not want the world. He does not want strong ones. He is quite content with the weak ones if they will only be given up to Him. He has chosen the weak to confound the mighty. The Lord bless you and help you a father of that nation in one sense."

EGYPT.

Gerts Hanna, won to God and the Army through an open-air meeting led by Commissioner Pakir Singh, at Port Said, when consulting with officers en route for India, was next introduced.

CANADA.

Staff-Capt. McHardy assured Mrs. Booth of Canada's love and loyalty, and in expressing his gratitude to God for presenting him to see the General, Mrs. Booth, and Mile End, London, he broke down.

"Give my love to those Canadians," said Mrs. Booth, picking the Staff-Captain up. "Tell them they are the right sort of metal, if you can only get them well fixed."

FRANCE.

Major Fry (who, Mrs. Booth said, was an old chum of hers when in Scotland), represented France. He was much wife. The Major expressed his determination to be more faithful in the future than ever. Major Fry prayed God for the blessing of seeing Mrs. Booth, and assured her that he was going to go forward and conquer for God.

OTHER NATIONS

were represented by Staff Capts. Jackson and Witts, of the Foreign Office. Staff-Capt. Jackson's country was first visited by a private interview with Mrs Booth in Lausanne some few years ago. Staff-Capt. Jackson referred to the joy he had in serving under the colors behind the scenes.

We had already been an hour in the sick room, and feeling that our suffering comrade had exerted her little capital of strength to the utmost, Commissioner Rabenaan, who had frequently brought some lively incidents connected with the officers and wonderful work of the so collection of her mother, quietly beckoned us to our knees once more, after which Mrs. Booth offered prayer, reviewing before the Throne the wonders God had wrought, the promises that were actually sure, and commending us to Him. The Commissioner brought the solemn assembly definitely to a point of consecration by the singing of that never-threadbare song.

"Here I give my all to Thee."

Then gradually the deputation dispersed, with the promise of our Army Mother ringing in our ears and resounding in our hearts, to meet us in the Resurrection Morning. And in a couple of hours or so we resumed our places in the fight, where may the Lord bless us and make us valiant soul-winners for Him.

Mercy Seat

I MEAN IT.

Did you ever notice that when the words "hustles" or "bangs," etc., are spoken about either in private or roll-call, every one begins to smile, look up, look down, and it apparently causes a lot of merriment? But stop and think, its the devil laughing in his sleeve, for while you are busy laughing the devil of fashion is plastering over one of the most important questions ever before the dressed Army called to be separate and holy.

"Oh," but "the dear sister" lightly says with a smile, "we do not wear these things because it is the fashion, or to be conformed to the world."

Attention; one minute, and I will prove that you do. If hustles and bangs were no go out of fashion and no go for you yourself would be seen upon the street with them, would you continue to wear them to be made a laughing stock to every one? No, you would not. Therefore you wear them because it is the style or fashion, and if God was to meet you with a lump on your back you would try every means to have it removed.

What a power your corps was three or four years ago when every soldier was known to be such by their appearance? Was a beautiful and satisfied Army feeling existed. Why? Because you were free and felt real satisfied and happy. You did not worry about the world, because, if anyone you did not care what they said about your plain appearance, but now you keep two eyes on the spare-room, one the Army, and one for all other occasions.

Come, now, face the fact and repent and do thy first works over again. Let God put out the now dim light of your salvation. Let your laughing be turned to mourning. Humble yourself in sackcloth. Let God cleared away and you enjoy the pure religion of Jesus Christ, then you will be on the laughing side.

STRAIGHT TALK.

New Brunswick News.

BY D. O. M'INTYRE.

"It's been long, long on the way," humbly acknowledge my slothfulness in WAR CRY reporting, and have often resolved to do better, but like the poor backslider who, when testifying said, "Dear friends, I have made many resolutions, in this respect I seem to revolve back to my point of departure.

However, let that be as it may, I have some good things to say concerning my good Lord and His faithful soldiers, the officers and people of this district, are also myself. First of all I must say that here in SOUTH SOUL-saving Salvation, the penitent form in St. George, the first and only one in twelve months. This is enough to ring the bells, Major Malcolm take up the reins here, and is confident of victory.

Sussex comrades have been throwing out in the streets again; this time by the burning of the barracks, the cause of which is unknown. Our new barracks and tents, drums, etc., were all destroyed, worth probably $2,000. A donation to Capt. Halliyard would be very acceptable, to help get a new drum and a new barracks. We have some good soldiers in this country for people. I trust a door will soon open to them.

Captain Prior accompanied me on my last visit to Grand Manan, and a good time we had, too. Our old friend is always welcome here, having been instrumental in North Head about eleven months, and where he had blessed victories. This was the anniversary of the Head. The crowds were great, and the meetings were honored of God in the salvation of ONE SOUL, another for the Lord. Also the colored brother, saved since my previous visit. The corps is in good shape. Capt. Lee Brient has a good Lieut. Also Capt. Holman at Woodward's Cove. She has seen and have it getting better. Mother Wormell looked after the corps well. Soul-saving business is slack here at present, but we are hoping for better.

The Islanders have met with great discouragements this season in their fishing. Such a scarcity of herring has not been known for some years, if ever. Our collections have gone down about half as the result, which reflects a little hard to make ends meet, but the dear people are very kind, and do their utmost. Mother Vicco and Brother Hallett visited us while on the island, is looking after our bairns. She is a true friend, and enjoys helping the Army. God bless you, Mother!

Capt. Charlie McLean has taken hold of Woodstock, and writes to say he expects God to wake up the dead. I feel confident from what I know of him, that the devil will have to move a little. Capt. and Mrs. Kimble have taken his place at Chatham, and have great hope for the future.

Centreville has had FIVE souls to add to the 20,000.

ought to get some of those bright young railroad lads saved.

Newcastle is rather quiet just now, but Capt. Lawler is made of the right kind of stuff to stick to things up.

Now comes Moncton, of which so many have despaired, and wondered if it would ever wake up. Yes, thank God, at last there are signs of a resurrection morning. Souls are getting saved every week, and many proper cases; yes, and a number enrolled, and quite a number waiting. It is a common thing to see the barracks crowded with an interested audience. Capt. Hunter and Lieut. Jefferson are making it warm for the devil. The newspapers are having a bit of fun with us just now, but it only makes the people come. Glory to God! That goes down like honey.

Moncton's Soldiers' Home. The officers and soldiers are pegging away, but no more. However, we mean to peg away until the rock crumbles up.

St. Stephen corps is doing well. Capt. Fraser has had a number of souls. He has now six converts, and handed over the charge to Capt. Dyas. Young, strong and hearty. He ought to do some visiting. WAR CRY selling and devil driving.

Amherst is still on the march forward. Two converts were saved last month.

Sackville, Hillsboro, Hopewell Cape, Salisbury and Petitcodiac are all very prosperous.

Fredericton is booming. Souls have been getting saved right along, and 80 added to the roll since Capt. Taylor took charge about five months ago, and a large number awaiting. We are sorry to part with him, he goes to St. John I. Capt. Matthews takes his place, and is determined to have victory, and keep the "Ark a-moving." The spiritual tide is rising both in the officers and the corps, and as for myself, God dwells in my heart and life. I am soaring up as fast as the wings of an eagle, and do not intend to stop.

STAFF-CAPT. SOUTHALL.

Such a Collection.

ST. JOHN IV.—We have been holding meetings at Sheffield. Tuesday night there was a good crowd, and Major Marsh talked and two cents collection. Since that the crowds have increased. Sunday night's collection amounted to twenty-four cents. We have been telling out the story of the cross in our weak and simple way, praying that God, by His Spirit, may send it home to the hearts of these people. Yours lifting the cross,

CADET ALISON CROSMAN.

Seven for the Week.

ST. JOHN V.—In the past week God has been with us at St. John No. V., and He has been blessing and giving us the victory. Sunday night we had Capt. and Mrs. Southall were with us, and God spoke to many hearts. In the afternoon ONE precious soul yielded, and at night FOUR more wept their way to Calvary's cross, and found a pardon. During the week TWO more souls came to God, making SEVEN for the week. Hallelujah!

A Visit From God.

HARRISTON.—We thank God this morning for His wonderful power to save. The past week has been one of victory. On Tuesday night we had with us Adjt. Cousins and Lieut. Horn. God gave us a blessed time, and we closed with "THREE in the forward," and God spoke to us right. More to follow.

CAPT. W. MARSH.

Wonders Never Cease.

WALKERTON.—This morning finds us rejoicing in Jesus, for precious souls, one. First because we are reinforced by a Lieut. (wonders will never cease), and secondly because TWO souls sought salvation at the cross. We are going in with all our might to do all we can for the salvation of Walkerton.

CAPT. A. MILES.

Such a Mean Devil.

WINGHAM.—Since coming here we have had some blessed times. Souls are getting saved nearly every night, and the soldiers are all on fire for God. The devil is also alive. He broke in the barracks, cut both the stoves, cut the furniture, cut our banner in pieces, damaged the organ, and ran off with the stove logs, but we don't feel a little bit like giving in. By next report we shall be able to tell you everything is repaired and in good working order.

CAPT. SMITH.
LIEUT. HITCH.

Nothing Short of Souls.

PALMERSTON.—Perhaps you have been thinking I sinned, but I am still alive, and a deadly enemy to the devil. Here I am at Palmerston, and having good times. We have had some good day so far service of a good God, who gave us good results in the salvation of TWO souls. Our night was a treat, 60 soldiers present out, and best of all God was with us. My comrades here are becoming desperate for the salvation of sinners, and they shall prove them too, and if I know anything of my own heart, nothing short of the world being saved would make me lay down my arms and quit this glorious war.

On the Right Lines.

GLENCOE.—We are in for victory, and are sure of it, because we are fighting on the right lines. We number five, our captain included. We hope look out for something from this quarter, as we are laying matters before our God, and doing some fervent praying. Very little know what God does with those who let Him have a chance. Secretary Ed. Skill.

It Went into the Stove.

WALLACEBURG.—Since we took charge, the Army, God has been a very peasant help, and we feel sure that God is going to do a work here. The second has been good, and we have felt God's power with us, convicting the people of their sins. On Sunday, ONE came to the tobacco idol went in the stove. We are looking for great results in Wallaceburg.

CAPT. HALPANY.

Victory!

CHATHAM.—Our Army, it is rising; how marshal they appear? Such is our experience. All glory to Jesus Who gives us this victory. Sunday night, weekly meeting; the different stories of conversions proved extremely interesting to the audience, especially when Annie Bell testimonied. "My life is a good thing to be saved!" Thanks, night, R. G. Shaft! I ever feel like a soldier. Each individual has been rather critical about a certain thing, but I tell you the criticism has disappeared, and the power rolled over us again and again. If you had seen poor old Blind Jack, the hardest man enough to touch the hardest heart. A soldier from Guelph was also present, and gave a most ringing testimony. I had been of all, THREE backsliders sought admittance, and came to the fold. Hallelujah! Monday night was the "Big Go." D. O. Dolton, Capts. Dyson, Cowan and Scarr being with us. You know wherever the Lord of Hosts, things have to hum, and do they did; especially at the 10 o'clock supper after the meeting. One woman found peace whilst walking home from the barracks. Friday and Saturday, TWO more came home. Sunday was a boomer, especially in the 7.15 prayer meeting. SIX souls came to the cross, glory, glory, glory! Sister Mumford said she was so happy, she felt as if her clothes were happy on her. Wonderful experience were given, great impressions were made upon the people. Whilst our "Musical People" were singing, "Going to Judgment," Jack with all his soul, exhorted the people to give up their sins, telling the angelic they were coming to Christ sins like a chicken returns to its roost. We thank Jesus for every victory won, the glory is Thine. Can with Thee.

ANNIE GOLDEN.

A Good Sign.

NEWBURY.—Praise God. In looking over the past week, we thank the Lord and for His live presence with us. Our crowds are increasing, WAR CRY sales going up, for we hear we praise the Lord very much. Hallelujah! We shall win, for we fight in the strength of our King.

BELLA WALKER.

ESSEX CENTRE.—Blessed meetings all week, particularly TWO souls sought salvation at the cross. We are going in with all our might to do all we can for the salvation of Walkerton.

CAPT. A. MILES.

Fredericton's Prodigal.

Rather strange that Fredericton should have been that number of months when under the Captaincy of Jennings, late of the Training Home. It comes to the front with 41 cents. God bless you, Alf, very little helps.

Lieut. Betty, though not having a great deal to boast of, yet she has managed to help someone else. My entry from Waterville last month was 3 cents. Thank you for the help.

"Twas Truro's Captain who was Crusoe, fighting quite a sensation at Headquarters when that 82 came to hand, being a larger amount than the last two months puts together. It adds greatly to the appearance of folks. But, I can tell you.

That Capt. at Spring Hill is generally right only, when he's wrong. However, I know Jesus is with him, and will bless for my part I think he deserves the title. Especially did he move in the right direction when he mailed the 5.00 for Hill. This is what I call Al. May you never grow weary in well doing.

'Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good, and that Wind Sir which sent in the increase of 69 cents was just proper. Thank you, Capt. Parson; may "Advance" ever be your motto.

I observe that Parrsboro, where Miller once held forth, only sends us $1.81, being a decrease of 71 cents. Now, Capt. Wheeler, March, I am believing for something big.

I was very pleased to make that entry from Chatham. Believe me, Al, that Bill has a much better opponent than the $1.70 at last month.

Yes, even Lawrencetown helps us, and sends 27 cents towards the new forthcoming in January. Well done, Capt. Hunter.

The tune of that Carrol across the river was pitched a little lower than last month. They say Mrs. Snelling is quite a singer, however a proper pitch was reached when that SOUL came Salvation and sent along.

I am pleased to note that rise at Bear River, from 14 to 50 cents. Well done, Field, I thought you could do it. Try again.

"Charity suffereth long and is kind."

Charlottetown is behind a dollar, Newcastle is in the Shades 10 degrees, while Summerside is left to the extent of 30 cents. I also observe that New Glasgow has $2.15, while Lawrence's 27 cents short of last month. I am believing though that the majority of these will be with us the first next month.

Capt. Tom Hughes carries Liverpool by storm and donates 45 instead of 5, which I consider more than generous, and adds a dollar to January's donation. Yesmouth also adds 80 cents. In fact, the majority of our corresponds in all ranks are becoming interested, and many are doing their best.

We are glad to welcome the following corps with their respective amounts who were silent last month—Fairville $1, Woodstock $2.25, Sussex Stephen $1, Sussex Moncton $3.50, North Sydney $1, while Pictou adds another dollar by sending along.

We praise God for the interest manifested, and take courage for March.

TO OUR POETS!

We are in urgent need of Original songs written to the following tunes:

"Stella," "Sovereignty," "Auld Lang Syne," "The day of victory's coming," "Glory to His name," "Victory is mine," "Happy day, happy day," "Draw me nearer," "Steadily forward march," "Down in the Garden," "Hiding Place," and any other old tunes that will go well in Sunday night meetings.

God will help YOU to send one along right away. Ed.

In For Victory

MADOC.—Since coming here the dear Lord has helped us in a wonderful way. We have just had a visit from the Household Troops' Band. Their visit has proved a great blessing to the people here. They won't soon be forgotten. We are in for victory, cost as what it may.

CAPT. B. GRANT.

Another Wanderer

MILLBROOK.—We had a visit from the H. T. Band this week, and the people enjoyed the music. The meetings are better and souls are decidedly blessed. Soldiers are coming home, and Jesus bids them come. Glory to God. God's Spirit was with us in power yesterday, and hearts were melted by His love. At night another wanderer returned. When we remember what a cost our redemption, and what God chased, our hearts are grieved over those who won't obey.

CAPT. ROWAN.

Room! Room!!

PORT HOPE.—Room! Room! is the order of the day in the Port. Think God! we are going ahead in every way. Our Sunday night WAR CRY bombing, brought the Soul Room is filled with success, and THREE more souls have come home, and THREE more souls have been saved and found home.

CAPT. E. WHITE.

Nine Souls

NORWOOD.—Just about two weeks ago we arrived in this town determined to do our best for God and souls. Since then God has helped us, and although the fight has been very hard, things looked dark, God has been with us and NINE precious souls have stepped into the light of God, and so far appear to be getting along well. Thank God. We are going in to help win the twenty thousand souls.

CAPT. BARBER.

Willing to be Soldiers

COBOURG.—In the past two weeks we have had FOUR souls, three of these are willing to become soldiers, and we are believing for the fourth. Meetings are good, and soldiers are in earnest so look out for a big harvest of souls. We fight in the strength of our King.

Saved on Sunday, Buried on Sunday.

CHATHAM, N.B.—The fire burns brightly here, and the Lord is with us, and the spiritual thermometer is on the rise. On Friday night we were gladdened by seeing TWO souls seeking a place, hence. The "boys" have love the S.A. They have fixed us up a platform so that the soldiers are enabled to come from behind the scenes and have full swing at the unsaved. Sunday night we held Sister Whyte's memorial service. She was called home the 2nd, and buried Sunday, Feb. 9th. Our barracks was packed. As the truths were dealt out, and the realities of life, death, judgment, heaven, and hell were brought before them, the whole audience seemed to be moved, but one would yield. Still we cry "Christ shall reign.

CAPT. KIMBLE.

No Place Like Home.

CAMPBELLTON, N.B.—"The salation of the righteous is of the Lord." There force the devil cannot rub it off. Hallelujah! In the name of God and for the salvation of souls, we have come to Campbellton. We had the joy on Sunday afternoon of coming ONE backslider return home. "There's no Friend like Jesus, there's no place like home." Sinner, get in earnest about your soul, there is salvation for you. Hurry up or you will miss it.

CAPT. MCDONALD.

They Have the Witness.

ST. GEORGE.—Said "good-bye" to the people of H——, and got orders to come to St. George. Since coming here we have had blessed times, and just now there are some souls almost persuaded to give up sin. By the help of God we are in for victory, and we shall do our best to have victory here, for we have the witness. Hallelujah!

KINGSTON KNOTS!

MAJOR BAUGH.

A Packed Barracks

STIRLING.—I arrived here Saturday, Feb. 1st, to find a nice little corps of solid people (not to be confounded with a band string). The bands are a great help to us here. The barracks and women are anxious to do all they can to help extend God's kingdom. We have had good meetings, but as yet no souls. The last night our barracks was packed full, they had not seen such a crowd for over a year, and we had the least of them. I believe a lasting impression was made upon many hearts. Victory, is our motto.

CAPT. WOOLLEY.

Not Captain-Saved

SUNBURY.—

"He promised He never would leave me,
No, never alone."

Since farewelling with our Captain, two weeks ago, we have had a Divine guide and help, and we have, for though we have had no Capt., we went forward in the strength of our King, and have had the victory over TWO volunteers for the Master. The power and the glory is the Lord's, and in Him we trust.

J. A. TANGO.

Walking by Faith

TRENTON.—We are still walking by faith more than by sight. True, we are having good meetings and apparently souls are deeply convicted, but souls are long time deciding. ONE soul has sought the Saviour and accepted Him since last report, for which we thank God, and take courage. CAPT. WEBBY AND WIFE.

A Queer Report, Why Writes It?

Christ is the vine
Around which we swine,
No retreating, hell defeating,
In our battle cry.
For with Jesus so near us,
To lead us along,
Onward we go.
Not fast, at the low,
To Victory we go.

LONDON LIGHTS.

MAJOR PHILPOTT.

Unity is Strength.

ALVINSTON.—Truly God is in our midst, and making His arm bare to the salvation of souls. Sunday night we had been a blessed time to our souls. God is working in our meetings. A good day yesterday. Barracks packed. The Methodist minister helped on the platform Sunday night. THREE prisoners and THREE backsliders for the week. Soldiers and converts doing well. Largest march yesterday we have had for a long time. Give to Jesus glory. Yours to win.

CAPT. SAM WIGGINS.

Some Have Come.

Praise God, we're nicely saved from sin,
And by His grace we're going to win;
Right glad we are that some have come,
Knelt at the cross and gave up sin.
We cleansed their hearts from every stain,
In His power they victory gain;
Loving the Lord who wrought the change,
Living for Lord who sought them.

LIEUT. JENNIE STOREY.

God is All-Mighty.

ST. MARY'S.—This place has had a hard name in the past, but it is not so bad after all. Although the devil is here and is strong, yet God Almighty and His warriors live here also. When we received orders for here, we claimed victory at once, and have had it so far. God has been saving souls every week. Up to the present SEVEN have professed conversion. One lad, who was saved one night, carried the drum the next. It was hard, but God helped him, and he was able to do it because she got saved in the Army, and felt God wanted her to be a soldier. Another lad, 18 years of age, last night, got saved in our meetings the next. Last night we closed our meetings rejoicing over TWENTY SEVEN have professed conversion. One lad, who was saved one night, carried the drum the next. It was hard, but God helped him; also a girl had to leave home

THE RINK
Welcomes Col. Bailey Home
FROM CANADA.

The Foreign Secretary Heads Him Over to Commissioner Howard pro tem.

REPRESENTATIVES OF TEN NATIONALITIES.

FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

Judging from the magnificent congregation gathered together and the hearty reception given him, the people of Regent's Hall were as glad to welcome home Col. and Mrs. Bailey as they had been to pay his fare to get rid of him when he went out to Canada three and a half years ago. He is in proper condition, and if Canada has done nothing else for him it has put some flesh on his bones, and given him a wife, who, if his word can be taken, is the best woman in the world.

He was introduced to himself from a Salvation Army point of view to go to Regent's Hall, sit in the seat, and think that from that one corner over 300 hundred officers have been sent into the work, and that over 700 have gone out as Foreign Missionaries, and are to-day representing every grade of officer from colonel downwards. The question is, as Commissioner Howard said, a Missionary Society in itself, and will bear comparison with any one place of worship of any denomination in the world for the men and women it has given to God.

A remark made by an officer the other day was brought forcibly to my mind, "If there are any Canadians knocking about you'll find them at the Staff-Capt. Kent's hanging round." for the first person I saw as I entered the vestry was this veritable individual, and I felt happy as if he had not every English officer comfortably settled in an appointment suited to their capacity; and that the Army Office was never going to trouble him any more over the International Disposition.

Looking at the uniform I could not help thinking, "This is quite an international gathering," for there were representatives of ten nations, and as many nationalities, not grouped intentionally, but who had in an ordinary manner dropped in to give a welcome home to our comrades. The old standard,

"Storm the forts of darkness," gave a swinging start to the meeting, and after prayer by Major Cooke, of the Shuma, and Mrs. Major Hickling, an old Regent Hall soldier, Staff-Capt. Morrell sang,

"I'll stand for Christ alone."

No one need ask "Did it go?" because if it is at all likely to lag, he enlists every member of his body into service, and with head, hands, and feet, he makes it along.

Commissioner Howard, who in the absence of Commissioner Railton, led the meeting, was in good form. He thought of playing second fiddle, but unexpectedly found himself seated on the box; but as the Foreign Secretary was present he did not intend doing much driving. They had not met to pour jam on Col. Bailey or say, "Glory be to God for this Col. Bailey, and be hateful to him, and he would feel like getting out of the meeting; but if some sinner gets saved, or some saint quickened into a more active service, or some Salvationist made ready to stand for Christ alone either at home or abroad, Colonel Bailey's heart would be made glad. His remark that a Salvationist was always ready to stand on his head if desirable, we got married as often as was necessary, seemed to tickle the audience immensely, and yet it did seem very appropriate, no less than four of the speakers had new wives.

Referring to the work of the Salvation Army, he said, here in London, where the comparative handful of Salvationists are lost in the teeming multitudes of population around them, they were not able to see it to advantage, but in new countries like Canada, from which our comrades have just returned, the power of the Salvation Army lifts itself to the mark of the people and root itself into the soil will seen. He felt that the Salvation Army was the right peg in the right hole, and whether the hole was round or square the S.A. seemed to fit and adapt itself to the manners and customs of whatever people it found itself among. In Australia it was equally at home in the bush or in large towns, and in Canada. In the lumber forests of the great North-West, in the bigger cities or smaller towns or villages, we had between 900 and 1000 officers who are carrying on our regular work, and in 22 stations which we established, God is enabling us to get souls saved.

"I do want, as the London Divisional Officer, to know, to welcome to his car division Col. and Mrs. Bailey, and whilst this is their own division, there is the happy consideration that they have come down for their first meeting at their own Headquarters. Col. Bailey is one of the gallant 300 officers who have gone out from this corps, out of which number 70 are now fighting in the Foreign Field. If there is a great Missionary Society the Regent Hall corps is one, and I for one am proud to have anything to do with such a corps. If this were the 10th instead of the 5th, I should have the pleasure of wishing Col. Bailey many happy returns of the day, for that is the 5th anniversary of the day on which he received his first command. He then called on Colonel Nicoll, the Foreign Secretary.

The Foreign Secretary has two verse which he put on record the occasion, and as soon as Commissioner Howard suggested a chorus, before he spoke out the same:

"With salvation for every nation."

He sings that 12.30, in the lanes, lanes in the street and about the quick, and seems thoroughly possessed with the idea that it is the purpose for all the woes of humanity. He had his own idea, and lives only to carry it out. "Hands as well as hearts," said the Colonel, and we slapped our hands and said, "We never give in." He was not in for a long speech, but after apologizing for the absence of Commissioner Railton, who was away in the north of France, he handed over for a few minutes to the leader, member of the London corps, Col. and Mrs. Bailey.

From what he had known of Colonel Bailey from correspondence during the past two years, he was sure the Colonel were merely because he obeyed the General's orders, but because when he deliberately considered it, he saw in himself over for us in the salvation of the world, to follow wherever he should lead.

I judge Col. Bailey, he said, to be a man who knew his own mind, and who, when he makes up his mind to do a thing, means to do it through; and some years ago, when he was sitting in one of the seats, the cross of Christ had a charm for his heart which dimmed every other, which shade all the lustre of a business life in this great metropolis.

Speaking of the progress since made by Col. Bailey, he said he had commenced to run, but stopping to take breath he looked back and saw the Army had left him, and took hold of some one to run with him; and two are better than one in this race. He thought Canada was the place for being instrument in God's hands of giving to the Salvation Army such a blood-and-fire soldier as Col. Bailey. He sent to the Foreign Wing, properly saved, and we hand him back to the London Division properly saved. Canada, Col. Bailey, a better man and a better soldier than when we got him—with a better half.

Before Col. Bailey was asked to speak, Commissioner Howard asked for an old chorus and we sang,

"I will follow Thee, my Saviour."

Col. Bailey said when he landed in Liverpool he felt like a stranger in a strange land, and felt like falling to his knees and kiss the ground he landed in the old Rink. Then all seemed clear to him and he felt, "This is home." He looked up and up, on the Rink and thanked God for it. It had been practical concerning him, having the Foreign Secretary was present but did not intend doing much driving. They had not met to pour jam on Col. Bailey or say, "Glory be to God for this Col. Bailey, and be hateful to him, and he would feel like getting out of the meeting; but if some sinner gets saved, or some saint quickened into a more active service, or some Salvationist made ready to stand for Christ alone either at home or abroad, Colonel Bailey's heart would be made glad. DeSalvation Army Bands Annoy Sick People!

No. 1.—A gentleman lying ill with rheumatic fever said to the other Sunday asking us to stand as usual near his house as the band would interest him.

No. 2.—Another gentleman asked us kindly to move, as his children had the scarlet fever.

No. 3.—"I think," said a well-to-do-lady to me the other day, "you make it a rule to march round this way Sunday afternoon to disturb people, and as for Sister—you can hear her voice above the church bells." Glory to God!

No. 4.—A Church of England minister, with pinched, pale face was overshadowed with sorrow as he told us some of the disappointments incident to Rescue Work in the Borough. He said, "It was a pitiful tale of temptation yielded to, and of pain to suffer." Mother wound up with a sigh, "Oh, Christmas is over and after all."

Following the Lamb's theme is no other alternative. "Set apart to suffer," is inscribed in the Lamb's consecrated, suffering people make so readily, or rather they, are making at an Army Holiness Tea Meeting.

We have learned to thank the dear Lord most of all for "the fellowship of His sufferings." It has brought us into sympathy with our Lord's deepest lessons; it is here also that we have enjoyed closest communion with Him, and it is thankfully all such Soldier-Auxiliaries.

The new badges and tickets of membership for our Auxiliary, years ago, arrived, although they have been ordered for some time past. We regret the unavoidable delay, but shall forward them at speedily as possible.

The new Auxiliary badge is a great improvement on the old one. Although the wearing of it is entirely optional, we we trust our Auxiliaries will show their colors by bravely donning it for Jesus.

An Auxiliary writes:—"I intend to wear it at home when I get it. I am not ashamed of Jesus and His cross."

He also forwards us a list of friends likely to become Auxiliaries. Our warmest thanks are due in the direction of Morrisburg.

"The soul's true rest is God alone,
For Him its throne was made;
Exalted there into our mate be,
If thou would's know thy Lord."

War Office Affairs Scattered Broadcast

THROUGHOUT THE Dominion.

BY ONE IN IT.

Oh! how those noon knee-drills seem to strengthen us spiritually, and how great blessings come, as we kneel in prayer for a few minutes every day unitedly. Comrades, officers, and soldiers can feel the blessed influence of these seasons of prayer? We do pray in faith that God will sanctify us in your varied difficulties in connection with the war.

War Office.

Yes! yes! yes! let it be understood once for all, throughout our Dominion, that within the Temple of bricks and mortar, there is a collection of living spiritual temples, temples of the living God, who delight in the privilege of pushing on the pen-and-ink war; for after all, these are the spiritual forces, which will tell on the great Reckoning Day, and I for my part, mean to do my work as unto God, then I shall stand in the Celestial City, Hallelujah!

War Office.

Still the noise of the hammer, the sound of the saw, and other noises kindred to manufacture, can be heard throughout the building, and on my travels, I see that these men who turn things upside down, have succeeded in the aim of the War Office lately, for entering the front stores on Albert Street, I see things have changed, there being a neat little office fixed in one corner, besides other alterations.

War Office.

Now, what does all this change mean? Well, the fact is that Staff-Capt. Sweetman has arrived, after a grand series of farewell meetings among his Ambitious friends in the Ambitious City. He is appointed Trade Secretary; and as such, will devote his whole energies to pushing forward the trade. We welcome him, and pray that the dear Lord will give him much success in his work, in his sphere of labor, and we don't forget Mrs. Sweetman. God bless the Trade Department.

War Office.

And then from what I hear, there is to be a general twist-round in many of the other departments, and, from what I see, office this changes will effect, I know not; for if I do get a bit of news, and I get every little bit I can, it is dark, as ever, perhaps I shall be able to enlighten you next week. I must say that the pain that I have in my window gives the place a more war-like appearance.

War Office.

Our dear Commissioner has his hands very full, and I believe, with his staff are anticipating great things during their Eastern and Newfoundland tour. The Chief and Staff Secretaries are rushing business; in fact, the Salvation business was never more rushing at the War Office, than at present. All hands on deck the deck of the old ship, and God is helping us to man the ropes, and send her along to the harbor of Salvation.

War Office.

And then I learn we shall soon have to say "good-bye" to Adjutant Tommy, for he has succeeded in the hard task of getting one of the new band, called the "Mexican Musketeers?" Oh dear! with Major Holland, Tommy Gage, Major Griff, the other Tommy, Sister Lee, and Nellie, with all their various instruments, what a treat the Newfoundlanders will get. Now must confess that I would like to go to but somebody must abide by the stuff, and we'll help them with our prayers.

War Office.

Then I have to welcome the new arrivals, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Mayes, who have arrived to take the janitorship of this Temple, in which, I am sure they will be able to glorify God and push on the war. But where does Lewis come to help in this work? The S. A. is big, and no doubt he will find another corner to work in. Cadet Gravott has come to help in the Correspondence Department, where we trust God will bless his efforts.

War Office.

Irish Rob, long parted, Capt. Cunningham, has been waiting orders for a few days, and now proceeds on special spiritual work in the Publication Department. Most of the War Office boys have gone into the singing business, having been appointed to assist Major Mazeppa in a series of singing battles throughout the T. H. Division. "Any musical talent at Toronto? do you say; well, I should say there is: Did you ever hear Bruno, Lofty, George, John Nos. 1, 2, and 3? I too love singing.

Behind the Scenes in Toronto

TO THE

FRONT OF THE THRONE.

It is not always at the front that the most efficient soldiers are placed. Sometimes a faithful soldier is left for a year in a of need.

Often, there are many of God's jewels shining brightly in front of His Mighty host, and leading them forth to battle and victory, while many a soldier is placed in a prominent part in some fight, but there are a few really noble hearts behind the scenes, ever ready to bind up and comfort a wounded comrade; to comfort a mourner or cheer a disconsolate one, and encourage such to bind up and fight on with all. That to those who watch and see, as also those who partake of the blessings brought about by the "Israel," there can only be one impression given, and that such are true followers of the meek and lowly Jesus of Nazareth.

Such an one was MAGGIE MCINTYRE, who within only a few days notice, was invited off to meet her Lord.

Some time ago she was a candidate for the work, and was much disappointed, seemingly, when the word did not allow her to go out in the world in a broader sphere to help her dear Lord "to seek and to save the lost." Doubtless, she felt disappointed, I said, but I do not mean discontented.

"La Gripre" seized her, and in a short time her work was done; but if you were to see her in her sphere, you would see God work in the circle of Bro. Duncan's family and relatives, from brother, sister, nieces and nephews, the wonderful and spontaneous and simultaneous response something like the following: "A more devoted, true, humble, and self-sacrificing life was never lived.

Her sick room, if not all times in an audible form, was a whisper of her intent, was filled with praises to her King.

"Jesus, Saviour, Thou art now than life to me," was constantly falling from her lips, and she passed away with the words "My heart is fixed, Jesus, my soul!—

"Pass me not, Oh, gentle Saviour!"

And on the resurrection morn from Mount Pleasant Cemetery will rise the glorified form of Maggie McIntyre, and she taking her place among the Blood-washed, will help to swell the choruses—

"Thou Hast Been Faithful Unto Me in Blood, etc., be glory and honor for ever."

TORONTO TRIUMPHS.

MAJOR SPOONER.

Jesus Does Answer Prayer.

BOWMANVILLE.—Here we are at Bowmanville, after leaving our comrades at Petrolia. (God bless them very much.) We find a proper fighting corps of soldiers and God is going to give us a mighty victories. We have seen TEN precious souls seeking forgiveness from God this past week. Jesus does answer prayer and they are testifying to it. We are going to give the best turn that is in us and give Jesus glory. LIEUT. ARTHUR E. TEMPLE.

A Grand Victory.

OSHAWA.—Thank God we are still gaining ground on the devil. We had Major Spooner with us, Saturday and Sunday. The meetings were full of life and go and the power of the Holy Ghost took hold on the hearts of the people, and TEN poor sinners did stick around crying their way to the Cross for pardon. Some of these have been coming to the meetings ever at we the army came to town, but God can break the hardest heart. We close the week with ELEVEN souls saved and six for full salvation. "We are sure we shall win, for we fight in the strength of our God."

CAPT. G. MILLER.

A Fighting Band.

OWEN SOUND.—"Farewell," said the wire, and although only having been to two meetings in two weeks, we were determined to have a good time. Saturday night's meeting was good, and so was knee-drill Sunday morning. Twelve were there and got a great blessing to their souls. (I was not one of them, but I don't like to miss knee-drill.) Holiness meeting God did most with us, and as we listened to each other's words our hearts did burn in us as we drew nearer to God. In the afternoon we had a nice crowd. One lad gave the account of his own life. May it be a lesson to others. Our faith was strong at night. The bandsman's prayer meeting was good, and we promised to be a fighting band and do more for God and precious souls than ever. Amen. The band played in the open-air, also inside. "Would Jesus have the sinner die," and it took hold of the people in power. After a few words of farewell the prayer meeting started and it was prayer in good earnest, and God answered. TWO precious souls came and found pardon. The march round the barracks led by the boys who carry the brass playing, "I'm glad I'm in the Army and I'll battle for the Lord." After a volley or two we parted to meet again at the Bar of God. "May we be found faithful," prays CAPT. DAWSON.

Good Signs

SUTTON.—Some say the Army will soon die out, but we say "No." Our crowds are increasing and the interest rising, and collections are good. Our officers and soldiers well saved and going in for victory. ONE soul since last report.

CHURCHILL AND COWAN.

T. T. H. TRINKETS!

MAJOR MARGETTS.

Seventy-Eight Years of Sin Gone

RIVERSIDE.—For some time we have been fighting and slowly gaining on the enemy. We give God all the glory for what He is doing. A few people will lay their seats the Spirit takes hold of them, and we trust some of them get saved. One old gentleman seventy-eight years old stood up in the meeting and told us God had saved him while listening to the singing of a song. He said he is doing all he can for Jesus, even though he came in the eve of his life, he is proving that God can help him to glorify Him. THREE have come forward to the penitent-form for salvation. We are believing to have our share in the twenty thousand souls.

HELENA MATTHEWS, Brig.-Capt.

A Hurryiane Coming.

RICHMOND HILL.—In past week the Lord has been with us in a special manner. On Saturday night we saw the clouds getting very black and we knew the shower was coming. On Sunday morning at knee drill we sang, "There shall be showers of blessing," and they did come too, I tell you. Holiness meeting came next, when three consecrated themselves afresh to God for Jesus. In the afternoon the clouds still were lowering and made us each one feel like hiding ourselves in God. We went to the meeting at night expecting to have a wonderful smash, got down to pray, when the Spirit of God gripped the hearts of the unsaved. ONE came forward, then the Lord so took hold of Capt. Chase's heart that he jumped clear to the altar still and saw the salvation of the Lord. You know after rain it is just fishing, caught FIVE and dropped them in our nets, while they now are drinking of the fountain of life. We closed the week with ELEVEN souls and another shower is coming. Hallelujah! Glory! Glory! Glory
